TRIBUTE TO ERIN STUART

Mr. SULLIVAN. Mr. President, I would like to recognize a member of my staff, Erin Stuart, who left the office in July to attend law school at Marquette University. This is an exciting time in Erin's life and all of us with Team Sullivan want to thank her for her contributions to our office, the State of Alaska, and the U.S. Senate.

Erin is a born-and-raised Alaskan who grew up fishing with her family in our State's pristine waters. After graduating from South Anchorage High School, Erin attended the University of Portland where she explored her passions for government affairs and trade policy.

Erin's time on Capitol Hill began in the summer of 2018 when she was an intern for my colleague, Congressman DON YOUNG. That following summer, Erin joined my DC office where she impressed all of us with her strong work ethic, eventually becoming a legislative correspondent for healthcare issues.

We work tirelessly in my office to ensure that the needs of Alaskans are best represented. I tell people who join my staff that it is not easy work. Erin was always eager to learn and to give the job her all, while also spending her evenings and weekends studying for the LSAT and filling out law school applications.

We wish her the best as she begins this new chapter in her life.

While Erin is currently not on my staff, she is will always be a member of Team Sullivan. Please join me in wishing Erin success in her future. She is missed.

TRIBUTE TO DAVID TOMASSONI

• Ms. KLOBUCHAR. Mr. President, today I rise to honor Minnesota State Senator David Tomassoni, a public servant, Olympian, and friend. Even through his battle with Lou Gehrig's Disease—also known as ALS—he has continued to serve the people of his district on Minnesota's Iron Range.

David's family has a distinctly American story: His grandfather was an immigrant, and his father served in World War II. And David, a son of Chisholm, MN, attended Denver University on a full hockey scholarship before embarking on a professional hockey career that brought him to Italy and the Olympics. He then returned to the place he was so proud to call home: the Iron Range. As David is quick to remind anyone, the Range "provided the ore that has forged the steel that has made the bridges of America."

Northern Minnesota was also where David found his true calling as a legislator. In nearly three decades of public service in the Minnesota House of Representatives and State senate, David has represented his community with pride, working every day to deliver real results for workers and families. From bringing good-paying jobs to his district, to improving schools, to fighting for safe conditions for miners, he has always been driven by a commitment to making his constituents' lives better.

When David announced his ALS diagnosis, it sent a shock through the entire State senate, and his colleagues rushed to wish him encouragement and good health. But even in the face of his own illness—and in true Tomassoni fashion—he is still thinking of others.

He is planning to introduce legislation to invest in new research, care, and ultimately a cure for ALS. He knows he likely will not be able to benefit from that investment himself, but the possibility that he could help another person is enough for him.

I want to leave you with David's own words, from the letter he shared with his constituents about his ALS diagnosis. He wrote: "I give you my word that my brain and my body will continue to represent you with the same passion and vigor I've tried to give in the past. I have been fortunate and blessed in my life, my career, in sports, and with friends and a great family. This is the next challenge."

David, you are an inspiration, not just to me, but to anyone who values hard work and determination. Thank you for your decades of service to the people of our great State, and my thoughts and best wishes are with you. If anyone is up to this challenge, it is you.●

TRIBUTE TO JANIS SANTOS

• Ms. WARREN. Mr. President, I would like to offer my congratulations to Janis Santos as she retires as CEO from Holyoke Chicopee Springfield Head Start after 48 years of leadership in early childhood education and care. She deserves recognition for her steadfast commitment to ensuring that children of all backgrounds have access to high-quality early education.

A graduate of Holyoke Community College and the University of Massachusetts, Janis began her professional teaching career in western Massachusetts. She soon became a trailblazer in her field. After opening Parkside Early Learning Center in Ludlow in 1973, she went on to join Holyoke Chicopee Head Start, Inc., as executive director in 1979. She continues to lead Holyoke Chicopee Springfield Head Start, which has grown to be the second largest Head Start Agency in Massachusetts and one of the largest providers of early education in western Massachusetts. In her career with Head Start, she has held several leadership positions, including chair of the Massachusetts Head Start Directors Association, chair of the New England Head Start Association, vice chair of the National Head Start Association, and member of the national advisory panel for the Head Start 2010 Project.

In 2003, while serving on the board of directors of the National Head Start Association, she testified before the Senate Committee on Health, Education, Labor, and Pensions in a hearing on the reauthorization of funds for Head Start. Her advocacy on behalf of the children and families in Head Start programs is powerfully important. I want to offer my gratitude to Janis Santos for her lifelong commitment to America's children and for all she has done to advance early childhood education and care in the Commonwealth of Massachusetts. I congratulate her on
